About Myself

I have worked with children, adolescents, and adults with autism and other neurodivergencies for 17 years. I have worked in school, home, and clinical settings to support students and train professionals and families with various behavioral interventions. I have an undergraduate degree in Behavioral Science from Walsh University and a graduate certificate in Applied Behavioral Analysis from the University of North Texas. I became a Board Certified Assistant Behavior Analyst (BCaBA) in 2015.
